First Export Shipments of Coal from the Buller Project

Bathurst Resources Ltd (ASX & NZX: BTU) is pleased to announce its first export shipment of coal from the Buller Project.

The first shipment of Cascade material left Westport over the weekend bound for the Port of Taranaki where it will be discharged pending a bulk shipment to the final customer in Asia.

The shipment utilised existing storage and ship loading facilities at Westport. The team at Westport did an outstanding job, ensuring the ship was loaded efficiently and in a clean and safe manner.

The second shipment, which left site three weeks ago, is expected to leave the Port of Lyttelton in containers later this week. This trial parcel of very low ash coal from Cascade is bound for a ferro-silicon producer in Western Australia.

Commenting on the weekend's event, Bathurst CEO Hamish Bohannan said:

"It was fantastic being part of the community on the breakwater watching the first coal leaving Westport this morning on its way to Taranaki."

"This was an important event for Bathurst and Westport."
